Continuously cursing war—in my heart, and in print as often as I dare—there has at last come to my attention a publication in which I can truly set my teeth: "Fight," in the 6th number of its first volume denounces war and Fascism in positive terms. Its publishers, herding unwilling truth before them, have marshalled the facts and formed them into shock troops, hurling them into the contest of Reason vs. War. Follows a ringing denunciation which will one day elevate its writer to the pedestal, or to the scaffold.

"War declared!" shrieked the headlines on April 6, 1917. Kill the dirty Boches! screamed editors, politicians, bankers, and business men, working themselves up to the ferocious hatred that only those who stay home and make money out of War can feel. Stop the great blond beast, the Hun baby-killers, avenge the rape of Belgium, remember Edith Cavell, remember the Lusitania! Make the world safe for Democracy, said a President, who had been re-elected five months before because he kept us out of War.

"Young men, coked to the eyes with newspaper propaganda for War, ate up the stuff they read."

"Farmers and workers held back."

"Debs said No; Haywood said No. Militant unionists said No. They said it was Morgan's war, Wall street's war, the capitalists' war. They said Fight against the capitalists' war and establish a workers' and farmers' government."

"Capitalism was desperate. On April 6, 1917, England, had only two weeks' food supply. French regiments were on the edge of mutiny. Russian sailors, soldiers, and workers had decided six weeks earlier that the Tsar and the capitalist imperialism he represented were their real enemies, not workers in other countries. Wilson had to work fast and get rough to make the world safe for capitalism for a few years longer."

"Wilson turned on the heat of propaganda, the terror. Get the Pro-Germans, get the Reds, beat them, frame them, jail them, lynch them, kill the dirty traitors! An army officer named Hugh S. Johnson wrote the conscription act to draft four million of the nation's youngest and strongest men for the service of the capitalists who had bet on the Allies to win."

"Betrayed, bunked, and bulldozed, the American workers and farmers were whipped into line. Debs went to jail. Haywood went to jail. Ruthenburg went to jail. Thousands of others were terrorized and imprisoned. Two million Americans went to France (only to be shot at a few years later when they asked for a bonus which was promised them). The Allies won and wrote a treaty to enslave Germany for 65 years. By armies, lies, and boycotts they tried to overthrow the Russian Soviet government, established by the soldiers, sailors, farmers and workers."

"But now—Allied capitalism has failed; German capitalism has failed. Capitalism is bankrupt."

"Today, April 6, 1934, world capitalism is facing collapse. Breadlines, closed factories, strikes, demonstrations. Again war—imperialist war war against workers and

SAN JOSE PUT ON PROGRAM

Nearly 80 members and visitors were present at the regular meeting of Orchard City grange here Tuesday night. Members of the San Jose grange presented a very interesting program of talks, music and readings. There were also several visitors from Sunnyvale and Morgan Hill.

Community singing started the program, followed by two musical readings, "The Lady Lives Next Door" and "Envy," by Miss Griffin. Mrs. Howes gave a talk on education. Mr. Bone of San Jose talked on the grange: when it was organized and about the 61st anniversary of the San Jose grange, which is the oldest in the state, which will be celebrated this year. Mr. Fiske, postmaster of San Jose, told of the work done by the grange. Miss Griffin again favored with two readings, and Mr. Schelemeyer, state grange master who had come from the south to be present, talked on agriculture and water conservation. Mr. Schelemeyer has just returned from Washington, D. C., where he was sent in the interests of water conservation.

L. L. Merrill gave the members some valuable information on irrigation. Mrs. Rose Hanger, chairman of the education committee, urged members to attend the schools during education week for the exhibits and programs being presented by the classes.

Following the varied program, the members were treated to ice cream and cookies. Next Tuesday night Orchard City grange will present a program at the meeting of East Palo Alto grange.

Tuesday night will be past masters' night at the grange here. Past masters will furnish the entertainment.

Good Crowd
Sees School
Week Program

A record crowd was in attendance at the grammar school programs held all day today in observance of public schools week.

Dances, poems, readings, songs, drills, and scholastic demonstrations of all kinds were given by the pupils under the direction of their teachers. This evening at the grammar school auditorium Dr. John C. Almack, department of education at Stanford university, delivered an appropriate address to a representative audience. Grammar school and high school musical organizations aided in the success of the evening program.

Will Sponsor Play
Here May 18th

On May 18 the ladies of the Congregational church will sponsor a play, "Poor Father," recently put on in Los Gatos by members of the Christian church who will compose the cast in the three-act comedy's presentation here at the grammar school auditorium.

AUTHORITY FINDS
CHEAP DRUGS MAY PROVE EXPENSIVE

A group of druggists representing the eighth congressional district met with the local retail drug authority at the call of the chairman, H. M. Shadle, Campbell druggist. The meeting was called to order at 8:30 Tuesday evening in San Jose at the chamber of commerce hall. Two members of the northern California Retail Druggists' association, Waldemar Gnerich, secretary of Northern California code authority and Carlo Basch, treasurer, were present and presented recent developments of the retail drug code.

The drug trade is working under a great hardship, says Mr. Shadle, inasmuch as the code allows the sale of drugs at cost. Cost has been defined as the manufacturer's list price in dozen lots. No business is suffering quite as much from the attacks of predatory interests as the retail drug trade. Just to give the public an idea of what is going on, said Mr. Shadle, let me quote from a recent article in Merck's Report, a New York journal published in the interests of ethical pharmacy:

"Caveat Emptor. 'Let the buyer beware' has recently been expressed again in a warning from the New York state board of pharmacy to patrons of stores selling drugs and miscellaneous products. Almost 44 per cent of brands of mineral oil, peroxide of hydrogen, witch hazel and bay rum were found to be below standard quality. In the case of witch hazel, acetone and isopropyl alcohol were adulterants. In some cases there were only four per cent of alcohol instead of 14 per cent, the standard. Some bay rum samples contained no alcohol at all. Physiological action was inadequate or absent in some of the mineral oil samples. It has been planned to continue the survey and submit the evidence to the attorney general of the state."

"The New York state board of pharmacy is to be congratulated for its initiative. In the case of advertised household remedies the buyer can be warned and is, at least somewhat equipped to supervise his purchases. But how about the prescription chemicals, when the health and even the life of an individual may be at stake? Here, neither the patient nor the physician has a supervisory control. Substitution still stalks amidst the unsuspecting physician and his inexperienced patient. The time has arrived to again serve notice upon those guilty of such practices—'Let the seller beware!'"

The moral is very evident in this case, asserts Mr. Shadle. Be very careful in buying medical supplies from sources that advertise prices far below the ordinary average price. You may not be getting what you buy.

Growers Urged to Sign
Up In 1934 Prune PoolMEET OF LITTLE CONGRESS WAS HEARD ON KPO

Saturday evening, April 21, between 5:30 and 6 o'clock, radio station KPO broadcast the proceedings of the Little Congress in Washington. The Little Congress is one of the most unique bodies in the world, being composed of the executive staff of the congressional and senatorial offices.

The subject under discussion was the Fletcher-Rayburn stock control bill, and the administration was supported by Captain Victor Hunt Harding of Palo Alto, confidential secretary to Congressman John J. McGrath, from this district, and formerly a member of the faculty at Stanford university, and assistant professor of political science at the University of California at Los Angeles. This interesting discussion was particularly interesting to all Californians, especially the residents of the Eighth district.

ADVISORS'
COMMITTEE MET TUES.

The general water advisory committee, numbering among its members Clarence L. Rich, chairman, R. H. Borchers, J. D. Crumney, E. N. Curtis, William Lester, Nick Nelson, and John Williams, Sr., met last night in the San Jose chamber of commerce rooms for the purpose of discussing water conservation issues.

"Outside" committeemen, such as those maintained by the local chamber of commerce, grange, etc., were invited, and S. N. Hedegard, representing the grange, was present from Campbell.

It was reported that little was accomplished due to the sparse attendance and, further, that the meeting will be recalled at a future date. It was also reported that H. M. Shadle, chairman of civic affairs committee, Orchard City grange, was appointed chairman of the various "outside" committees.

F. R. James and daughter Evelyn of Winters visited friends here Tuesday.

MEETING COUNTY FEDERATION
SCHEDULED HERE APRIL 27TH

On Friday, April 27, the Santa Clara County Federation of Women's Clubs will meet in Campbell at Community hall in the library building. Pundita circle and the Country Woman's club ladies will be hostesses.

At the morning meeting, which will commence at 10:30 there will be given reports of the district federation convention which was recently held at Santa Rosa.

A recess from 12 to 1:45 will enable those not otherwise provided for to lunch at the Congregational church parlors, where a 50-cent lun-

CHARGES COOPER
ASSAULTED HIM

Bruce Cooper, local youth, is at liberty on $1,000 bail charged with assault by Claude Grizzle, who had Cooper arrested following an alleged argument at his (Grizzle's) home Wednesday noon last week. The altercation is said to have arisen over parking rights in the alley alongside of the Grizzle property on South First st.

Cooper will be represented at the hearing, date of which has not been set, by Eugene Grattan, while the district attorney will prosecute.

ODD FELLOWS
TO ENTERTAIN
HERE THURS.

Thursday evening at 8 o'clock members of Morning Light lodge, I.O.O.F., will be hosts to Burlingame Odd Fellows. Addresses of welcome by Noble Grand A. B. Covey and Vice Grand Jack Murdock will be followed by an entertainment topped off with refreshments.

The committee in charge of the evening's festivities includes E. C. Merrill, Gil McCaughey and Ray Mathis.

Country Women
Postpone Party

A party sponsored by the Country Woman's club and announced for May 1 has been postponed one day to Wednesday, May 2. The entertainment is a benefit for the student loan fund of the Santa Clara County Federation of Women's Clubs, the purpose of which is to aid needy students of the county to complete their college courses.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. R. H. Hyde, Mrs. G. S. Robson or Mrs. L. J. Carboni at 25 cents per person or $1 a table.

Remember the date—Wednesday, May 2 at 2 o'clock in Community hall. Players reserving tables are requested to bring cards, covers and score pads, for their tables. Tables will be furnished for single reservations.

cheon will be served by the ladies of the church. Reservations should be made with Mrs. C. W. Shumway or Mrs. C. E. Farman.

Reconvening at 1:45 the assemblage will be entertained with a musical program featuring local singers and musicians, and by a forum, "A Little Bit of Everything," led by Miss Jessie Williams of San Jose, past president of both the county and district federations.

All women interested in the work of the group are invited to attend any or all of the functions.

San Francisco, April 25—Calling upon every prune grower in the state to help maintain the present industry control organization, President Hugh S. Hersman of the United prune growers of California today announced a state-wide esign-up campaign which will be carried on from May 1 to 15.

Under the terms of the grower contracts of the California prune pool, the tonnage signed in the United prune growers must be maintained at eighty per cent of the total state production based upon 1931. At the present time due to sales of property foreclosures and other losses, the tonnage signed with the United has fallen below this figure.

Unless the additional tonnage required to bring back the United's control to the full eighty per cent is secured by May 15, the growers' cooperative will pass out of existence with the completion of the sale of the 1933 crop.

In a letter mailed out this week to every "outside" grower, President Hersman in appealing to them to sign up their acreage said, "During the past twelve months the tonnage of prunes signed with the United has fallen definitely below the eighty per cent required to maintain the organization in existence. This loss, due to contracts automatically cancelled by sales of property, foreclosures and otherwise, must be made up by May 15, 1934, if the industry organization is to continue in operation."

"The need for the United was never greater than it is right now. It is needed, first, to safeguard all the benefits won for California prune growers during the last two years. Secondly, it is needed to protect the growers' interests in the negotiations we are pressing for a prune industry marketing agreement under the agricultural adjustment act to bring in 100 per cent of the state's growers."

"The industry plan, represented by the United, has been and is an outstanding success. It has replaced a demoralized prune market with a strongly controlled one. It has been the main factor in bringing prices steadily up from the ruinous levels of 1932. Our record of practical success, written plainly in dollars and cents and in volume of prunes moved into consumption, is conceded everywhere."

"Several weeks ago the directors of the pool and the association authorized negotiations for a marketing agreement. These are being actively pressed in the interests of all growers. The agreement under the most favorable circumstances, however, cannot be made effective by May 15."

"The United therefore must be maintained beyond that date. Otherwise there will be a period of time during which the industry will be without any stabilization program in effect."

"We are confident that the marketing agreement ultimately will be worked out. If,

WORK RESUMED
ON PAGE DAM
WITH LOCAL MEN

Work has been resumed on the Page dam in Los Gatos creek. For some two weeks after CWA men were taken off the job late in March there was not much doing. While hope lasted that CWA or SE-RA or some other such help might be available, it seemed best to wait developments. But as time passed and the likelihood of that help faded directors of the Santa Clara County Water Conservation district concluded it would be well to employ labor to complete the dam.

This week Monday there were twenty men engaged, chiefly in pouring concrete on the right wings. Tuesday the wing forms were completed and on Wednesday, concrete poured to the top. The next step is to lay steel and forms for the center portion, or main part of the dam. The number of men required will vary from ten to 20 depending on the character of the work. Most of the men are residents of Campbell or vicinity.

While there was a short run of the Los Gatos creek the past season and only twenty days in which water could be run in the upper Page ditch, the district officials report that 2,000 acre feet of water was disposed of through the ditch system by percolation or use for orchard irrigation.

Similar results were obtained from the Guadalupe creek through the Masson ditch which the district had enlarged. In a smaller ditch than the Page and with fewer days of use, some 600 acre ft. of water were sunk on a 50 acre vineyard. This water proved to be of great usefulness in a marked rise in the water in wells to the north and west of Kooser road.

Fine Program
Presented By Charity Lodge

At Charity lodge's annual ladies' night entertainment many local Masons and their families gathered at Odd Fellows hall to enjoy the evening. They were favored with a group of songs by Stephen Merrill, popular young tenor of radio fame, and by the following program which featured A. A. Thielke's high school concert orchestra.

In order they were "In A Persian Market," "The Pink Lady," "Tango In D," "Pale Moon," and "High Jinks" by Rudolf Friml. There was also a request for "The Bells of St. Mary's," to which the orchestra responded.

Also on the program was a flute solo by Francis Smith, accompanied on the piano by Jeannette Wellington.

Following the program there was dancing downstairs to the music of Del Lanning's orchestra, and cards for those who wished to play in the lodge room. Refreshments were served at 11 o'clock.

Walker Vaughn was chairman of the committee which arranged the successful evening of entertainment.

Burbank-Cam'b'l CYO Team To Play Here Sunday

Due to inclement weather the baseball game scheduled here Sunday between Campbell and San Martin was called off, and will probably not be played until the regular series has been concluded. Next Sunday Campbell's club visits Franklin, where considerable opposition is anticipated, due to the fact that Franklin's club has been put into better shape since the last league series.

Fans who are unable to follow the team will be assured a ball game, however, as the Burbank-Campbell C. Y. O. aggregation will meet an opponent on the local diamond.

In Sunday's Inter - City games Franklin won from Los Gatos 10-2 and Richmond-Chase took Saratoga 7 to 5. Campbell now leads with two

Miss Labarbara Entertains

Miss Josephine LaBarbara entertained at her home on Wedgewood avenue yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. James Burns, who will leave soon for an indefinite stay in Portland, Ore.

A tasty luncheon was served at noon, and the afternoon was spent in visiting. The hostess had used yellow Spanish Iris to add to the charm of her home.

In addition to the hostess and the honor guest there were present Mrs. Earl Edlemon, Mrs. Arthur Robinson, Mrs. William Ohlen, Mrs. Ordway Bruegge, Mrs. Alfred Bulmore, and Mrs. Edward Hanson.

Mrs. F. O. Bohnett is visiting in Reno.

Many members of the local

THROUGH THE DECADES 1854 - 1934

FRIDAY April 27, 1934 marks our 80th ANNIVERSARY

Through the decades, our predecessor institutions served the Bay Region . . . joining in its development . . . utilizing to the full each new instrument for swifter, more efficient banking. ♦ One by one, these institutions have been welded into the American Trust Company of today. Their traditions have become our traditions. And in the upbuilding of our modern branch system, the spirit of these pioneer banks lives on.

COMMERCIAL BANKING SAVINGS · TRUST

DEPOSITS INSURED AS PROVIDED IN U. S. BANK ACT OF 1933

1854 to 1864

Gold, gold, gold! Pick and pan, rocker and sluice. Fifty million a year from the mines! Clippers sailing around the Horn. Pack trains threading the jungles of Panama. Covered wagons toiling over the Immigrant Trail. Westward ho . . . to the tune of "Oh, Susannah!"

1864 to 1874

"Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching." The Blue and the Grey. The thunder of distant guns echoing across the continent. California pouring out her youth and her treasure in support of the Union, yet sending many a gallant son to follow the banners of Jackson and Lee.

1874 to 1884

Peace and plenty on the shores of the Pacific. The Golden Spike has been driven and steel spans the continent at last. The Iron Horse is bringing more settlers than the covered wagon ever carried. California is growing . . . growing . . . doubling its population in a decade.

1884 to 1894

A period of unrest. Civil Service reform in politics. Price wars and violent security fluctuations in the business world. Rail fares from New York to San Francisco down to $9.50. Labor discontent . . . falling wages . . . unemployment . . . strikes . . . riots. Yet California marching steadily on . . . passing the million mark in population.

1894 to 1904

From Panic to "The Full Dinner Pail." "A purple decade!" Gold from the Klondike. Factory wheels humming. High priced wheat and plenty of it. Bicyclists "scorching" along the highways. Horseless carriages, jeered at in the streets. Admiral Dewey in the Philippines and the Rough Riders on San Juan Hill. America a world power over night . . . and San Francisco the gateway to her new Pacific empire.

1904 to 1914

Era of strenuous politics and "the strenuous life." Peary planting the Stars and Stripes at the North Pole. Amundsen piloting his little ship, Gjøa, through the fabled Northwest Passage. "Gibson Girls" waiting to the "Merry Widow." The Wright Brothers conquering the air at Kittyhawk. San Francisco, stricken by disaster, yet rising undaunted from the ruins . . . a greater city than before.

1914 to 1924

The Panama Canal. Atlantic and Pacific joined at last. San Francisco celebrating . . . playing host to the nations in its magic city on the Marina. A shot that echoes round the world. Again the thunder of distant guns. Nearer . . . nearer. Mea in khaki marching . . . marching away . . . "and we won't come back till it's over over there!"

1924 to 1934

Scientific wonders and post-war restlessness. A lone flier winging across the Atlantic. Radio in the home. Easy riches, easily spent. And then the reckoning, four bitter years of depression. A shaken nation, gradually resuming its normal tasks. The Bay Region at work again . . . building the greatest bridges of all time, to link the cities of the future.

"The purpose is the same—profits."

"Again we have politicians talking peace and rushing to spend billions for warships, planes, munitions. Again we have national defense weeks. Again we have industrial terror and a suspension of the fake rights of free speech, organization and action. Again patrioters cry: 'Get the Reds, get the unpatriotic union organizers, the anti-war agitators.' Again we have the lie that anyone who is against the President is against the best interests of the American masses and should be treated as a traitor. Again the propaganda is spread that war is good for business and therefore good for workers. It's 1914-17 all over again, but—"We know some things now we didn't know on April 6, 1917. We have lived through 17 years more of capitalist betrayals and double-dealing and exploitation. We have seen 165 million workers and farmers in the Soviet Union establish a government of their own. We know that war means death and misery for millions of us and billions of dollars for the few. We know that our enemies, whom we are told to hate and kill, are workers and farmers like ourselves and are faced by the same exploiters that we are faced with.

"We remember April 6, 1917, and today in April, 1934, we know that fighting against war is fighting for a workers' peace in a workers' world."

While further comment seems unnecessary, I'd like to add that thinking people throughout the land are subscribing to the doctrine of the anti-military. I expect to be severely criticized in some quarters for the publication of the foregoing article; I shall

If you tap with the fingers an empty box, it will give forth a hollow sound. If the box be filled with or partially filled with some substance, the sound it gives forth when you tap it is correspondingly different.

This simple discovery with relation to the human chest laid the foundation for the invention of one of our most powerful weapons in the war on tuberculosis, the stethoscope.

Next weapons applied to this disease were x-ray and the fluoroscope. Finally came surgery.

Today there are four factors in the treatment of tuberculosis. Rest, sunlight and fresh air, proper nourishment and surgery.

In lung surgery, history is being made throughout the civilized world. As in many other branches of modern medicine, the greatest advances have been achieved in the last ten or 15 years.

Three operations are widely used and with great success. One is the pneumothorax, administered to 40 percent of all patients in sanatoria. This is the process of lung collapsing. Air is pumped into lung cavities, depressing the diseased lungs and allowing them to heal more quickly.

The relief from continuous motion and irritation due to breathing or coughing enables the resting lung to heal more rapidly.

Second is the phrenicotomy by which the phrenic nerve, reaching from neck to diaphragm is removed. There are two such nerves, one on either side. Only one is removed. The result is partial paralysis of one side of the diaphragm, which then helps to fill up the lung cavity and speed up the healing process.

Third is the thoracoplasty, a more radical operation. It is used where one of the others or both have failed to bring about the desired results. The thoracoplasty simply is a mechanical means to partially close the lung cavity, and as such is a valuable aid to the usual course of treatment given tuberculosis patients.

It has been estimated that before lung surgery became general, 80 percent of all tuberculosis patients, including those in sanatoria, died within five years. Now, with surgery, one third are cured, one third are much improved and only one third fail to respond.

The fight against tuberculosis has been one of the most dramatic as well as the most relentless in the history of civilizations. Millions were ex-

Spring Showers for the Bride

SPRING COMES in with romance, and romance brings announcement parties and showers for the happy bride-to-be. Every shower hostess yearns to plan an ingenious party that will linger long in the memory of her fortunate friend. This can be simply done by a novel method of hiding the gifts where they are suspected but not seen. Fasten the handle of a pretty but inexpensive parasol in an adjustable Christmas tree holder in the center of the table. Cover the framework of the holder with fronds of fern, spring leaves or tissue paper greenery with rosettes or spring flowers peeping out here and there. Gifts of linen or lingerie wrapped in flat tissue paper packages may be tucked under each rib as near the outer edges as possible. A small snapshot of the friend who gave the gift, framed in a lace paper dolly, may be tied to each package with a long ribbon so it hangs almost to the table. It is very important that the menu be memorable for this joyous occasion, so we suggest the following gay combinations:

Fruit Basket Salad*
Assorted Sandwiches*
Butterscotch Parfait Sprinkled with Salted Pecans*
Rice Flakes Macaroons*
Coffee

Fruit Basket Salad—Chill 6 halves of canned pears, using large halves because small pears are not nearly as nice for this salad. Using a knife, scoop out a small part of the center, leaving what is to be a basket for the salad. Divide 2 small packages of soft white cream cheese into four parts, and using vegetable colorings, tint each part of cheese a different color, leaving one part white. Do not color the cheese deeply. Chill the cheese and form into small egg shaped balls, using one egg of each color in each pear basket. After placing one tinted egg of each color in the basket, place it in a deep cup of crisp chilled lettuce and garnish at one side with Fruit Salad Dressing made by folding into Mayonnaise an equal amount of whipped cream.

Shrimp Dainties—Remove black veins from one can shrimp. Grind through food chopper or mash with fork. Add 8 Ripe Mission Olives, chopped fine, and mix to suitable paste with Mayonnaise. Spread on small rounds of white bread and top with another round of bread from which center has been removed with a tiny cookie cutter or thimble. Place a small amount of Mayonnaise in center and top with a whole shrimp.

Cream Cheese, Olive and Horseradish Sandwiches—Soak 1 teaspoon Evaporated Horseradish in 1 tablespoon of the liquor from Stuffed Olives for 10 minutes. Add this to 1/4 pound soft white cream cheese and 10 Stuffed Spanish Olives, chopped, and blend thoroughly. Spread thin layers between thin slices of sandwich bread which have been spread with Mayonnaise. Cut into desired shapes. Rye or Whole Wheat Bread may be used.

Celery and Olive Sandwiches—Chop 1 cup celery very finely and add 1/4 cup Stuffed Spanish Olives, chopped. Moisten with Salad Cream and spread on buttered bread or rolls.

Butterscotch Parfait—Melt 1 cup light brown sugar and 3 tablespoons butter in saucepan and cook until thick and bubbly, stirring constantly. Add 2/3 cup water and cook until smooth syrup is formed. Beat 4 egg yolks, add butterscotch syrup slowly and continue beating. Cook on low heat until light and fluffy. Chill. Beat 1 cup heavy cream until stiff, add a few grains of salt and 2 teaspoons vanilla. Combine with chilled egg mixture. Turn into tray, place in refrigerator and freeze without stirring. Top with whipped cream and sprinkle with pecans.

Rice Flakes Macaroons—Beat 2 egg whites until stiff, then fold in 1/2 cup sugar gradually and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Next fold in 1/2 cup coconut and 2 cups Rice Flakes. Drop by tablespoonfuls on lightly oiled cookie sheet. Bake in a slow oven (300° F.) for 15 to 20 minutes or until crisp and delicately brown. Makes 1 1/2 dozen macaroons.

ended toward control of the disease. Today it can be safely said that man is slowly but with certainty defeating the hungry hordes of tuberculin microbes.

El Paradiso council, C. C. P. T. will meet Thursday, April 26, for a picnic lunch at Long Bridge with the Saratoga unit as hostesses.

Mrs. Lucille Ullom and son Leo Glenn spent Sunday at Hayward, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Isabell.
